Environmental Land Use Planning Seth Appiah-Opoku, 2012-11-07. Environmental Land Use Planning brings together leading scholars in the field of environmental problem solving to examine environmental problems and effects on land uses, analytical methods and tools in the field and the role of governments, community grants and tradable permits in environmental planning. The chapters are based on empirical research from countries around the globe including Canada, USA, China, Nigeria, Germany, Serbia, Venezuela and Brazil. The book discusses such issues as predicting changes in land use pattern, ecological footprint analysis, socioeconomic and behavioral modeling and flood control approaches. It is insightful and serves as an important resource and reference material on environmental management.

Environmental Science and Technology Stanley E. Manahan, 1997-08-26. This broad overview covers the four traditional spheres of the environment: water, air, earth and life, and introduces a fifth sphere, the anthrosphere, which the author defines as the sphere of human activities, especially technology, that affect the earth. Environmental Science and Technology is organized into six major areas: one for each of the five spheres and one introductory section that explains the fundamentals of chemistry, biology, biochemistry and environmental chemistry. Throughout the book, the relationships among the five spheres and their connections to the sciences are emphasized. For better or worse, technology is closely intertwined with the other four spheres. Humans utilize resources, manufacture goods, practice agriculture and engage in other activities that have profound effects on the planet. This unique text/reference takes a realistic look at the environmental effects of human activities and shows how constructively directed technology can have a beneficial effect on the Earth.

Urban Aerial Pesticide Spraying Campaigns Manuel Vallée, 2022-12-26. This book examines social processes that have contributed to growing pesticide use, with a particular focus on the role governments play in urban aerial pesticide spraying operations. Beyond being applied to sparsely populated farmland, pesticides have been increasingly used in densely populated urban environments and when faced with invasive species, governments have resorted to large scale aerial pesticide spraying operations in urban areas. This book focuses on New Zealand's 2002-2004 pesticide campaign to eradicate the Painted Apple.

Moth which is the largest operation of its kind in world history whether we consider its duration 29 months its scope at its peak the spraying zone was 10 632 hectares 26 272 acres the number of sprayings that were administered the pesticide was administered on 60 different days or the number of people exposed to the spraying 190 000 This book provides an in depth understanding of the social processes that contributed to the incursion why the government sought to eradicate the moth through aerial pesticide spraying the ideological strategies they used to build and maintain public support and why those strategies were effective Urban Aerial Pesticide Spraying Campaigns will be of great interest to students and researchers of pesticides environmental sociology environmental history environmental studies political ecology geography medical sociology and science and technology studies The Open Access version of this book available at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives CC BY NC ND 4 0 license
