The Business of Bioscience Craig D. Shimasaki, 2009-09-18 My journey into this fascinating field of biotechnology started about 26 years ago at a small biotechnology company in South San Francisco called Genentech. I was very fortunate to work for the company that begat the biotech industry during its formative years This experience established a solid foundation from which I could grow in both the science and business of biotechnology After my fourth year of working on Oyster Point Boulevard a close friend and colleague left Genentech to join a start up biotechnology company Later he approached me to leave and join him in of all places Oklahoma He persisted for at least a year before I seriously considered his proposal After listening to their plans the opportunity suddenly became more and more intriguing Finally I took the plunge and joined this entrepreneurial team in cofounding and growing a start up biotechnology company Making that fateful decision to leave the security of a larger company was extremely difficult but it turned out to be the beginning of an entrepreneurial career that forever changed how I viewed the biotechnology industry Since that time I have been fortunate to have cofounded two other biotechnology companies and even participated in taking one of them public During my career in these start ups I held a variety of positions from directing the science operations regulatory and marketing components to subsequently becoming CEO

Ibata-Arens,2019-04-16 The biomedical industry which includes biopharmaceuticals genomics and stem cell therapies and medical devices is among the fastest growing worldwide While it has been an economic development target of many national governments Asia is currently on track to reach the epicenter of this growth What accounts for the rapid and sustained economic growth of biomedical in Asia To answer this question Kathryn Ibata Arens integrates global and national data with original fieldwork to present a conceptual framework that considers how national governments have managed key factors like innovative capacity government policy and firm level strategies Taking China India Japan and Singapore in turn she compares each country s underlying competitive advantages What emerges is an argument that countries pursuing networked technonationalism NTN effectively upgrade their capacity for innovation and encourage entrepreneurial activity in targeted industries In contrast to countries that engage in classic technonationalism like Japan s developmental state approach networked technonationalists are global minded to outside markets while remaining nationalistic within the domestic economy By bringing together aggregate data at the global and national level with original fieldwork and drawing on rich cases Iбата Arens telegraphs implications for innovation policy and entrepreneurship strategy in Asia and beyond
