Environment, Forced Migration and Social Vulnerability Tamer Afifi, Jill Jäger, 2010-08-05 This book is one of the outputs of the conference on Environmental Change Forced Migration and Social Vulnerability EFMSV held in Bonn in October 2008 Migration is one of the oldest adaptation measures of humanity Indeed without migration the multitude of civilizations and interactions between them peaceful and otherwise would be hard to imagine The United Nations UN led global dialogue on migration is a clear sign that governments and the specialized UN agencies and bodies have recognized the need to view govern manage and facilitate migration to mitigate its negative effects and to capitalize on the positive ones It is a common expectation among experts that environmentally induced migration will further increase in the decades to come Hence next to the political economic ethnic social financial humanitarian and security aspects of migration the environmental component should urgently be considered in the ongoing international dialogue on migration This need is also a challenge Without appropriate scientific knowledge assessment definitions and classifications the intergovernmental frameworks would not be able to deal with these complex phenomena The Five Pronged Approach as formulated by the United Nations University UNU may serve as a framework to identify the additional dimensions of this challenge next to and actually simultaneously with the scientific one

Climate, Environmental Hazards and Migration in Bangladesh Max Martin, 2017-07-20 The apocalyptic visions of climate change that are projected in the media often involve extreme weather events disasters and mass migration of poor people This book takes a critical look at this notion drawing on research in Bangladesh a country located at the heart of debates on climate change and migration This book argues that rather than leading to dramatic events climatic and environmental impacts often cause incremental changes in people's habitats and livelihoods making them migrate in search of better places and income With or without climate change climatic and environmental factors can impoverish people and drive displacement and migration especially in the global South These influences including disasters need not necessarily make people move but instead sometimes trap the poorest and the most vulnerable people in their places exposed to hazards or make them migrate to even riskier places such as crowded and flood prone urban slums This book argues that restrictions placed on people's mobility options could increase their vulnerability and favours proactive migration policies. This timely contribution explains the climate hazard migration nexus in an accessible, engaging language for students of geography, development studies, politics and environmental studies as well as humanitarian and development practitioners and policymakers.

Environmental Security in South-Eastern Europe Massimiliano Montini, Slavko Bogdanovic, 2011-01-07. Authored by international experts from academia, international organizations, governments and NGOs, this book highlights the main environmental security issues in the South East European SEE countries with a particular focus on climate change and water management. The common goal of the authors was to provide a reliable evaluation of whether existing legal regimes and correct implementation of applicable international treaties may contribute to reducing environmental security risks in the region. In-depth analyses and assessment of major challenges in compliance serve as a firm ground which such evaluation is based on. This volume is recommended for public officials, legal practitioners and consultants. Its interest may also extend beyond the SEE countries serving as a case study of a broader and paradigmatic relevance of the analysis and management of environmental and security issues in a trans boundary context.

Geophysical Hazards Tom Beer, 2010-06-25. The International Year of Planet Earth IYPE was established as a means of raising worldwide public and political awareness of the vast though frequently under-used potential the Earth Sciences possess for improving the quality of life of the peoples of the world and safeguarding Earth's rich and diverse environments. The International Year project was jointly initiated in 2000 by the International Union of Geological Sciences IUGS and the Earth Science Division of the United Nations Educational Scientific and Cultural Organisation UNESCO. IUGS which is a Non Governmental Organisation and UNESCO an Inter Governmental Organisation already shared a long record of productive cooperation in the natural sciences and their application to societal problems including the International Geoscience Programme IGCP now in its fourth decade. With its main goals of raising public awareness of and enhancing research in the Earth sciences on a global scale in both the developed and less developed countries of the world, two operational programmes were demanded. In 2002 and 2003 the Series Editors together with Dr Ted Nield and Dr Henk Schalke, all four being core members of the Management Team at that time, drew up outlines of a Science and an Outreach Programme. In 2005 following the UN proclamation of 2008 as the United Nations International Year of Planet Earth, the Year grew into a triennium 2007-2009.

Climate Change as a Reason for Asylum. A just Claim?, 2020-11-25. Bachelor Thesis from the year 2020 in the subject Politics / Other International Politics. Topics: grade 1.5, University of Rostock, language: English, abstract: The verdict of the UN Human Rights Committee poses the issue of a potential entitlement to asylum for humans experiencing climate-induced displacement. Thus, this thesis is gonna examine this rather new topic of the political science: the future forced migration in the context of climate change and its consequences for the receiving countries and their legal systems. Consequently, for one thing in this thesis, it will be tried to point out the causal correlation of climate change and migration.

and moreover on this basis tried to undertake reflections regarding a potential need for reformation of national and international refugee and asylum law in order to protect the affected people Since justice is highly important for social cooperation and also currently being tested by not only the global resource scarcity and its resulting conflicts but also as shall be shown with this thesis by the that very human induced climate change the focus of this work shall not be put on the potential implementation of climate refugees into the law of nations but rather on the more philosophical question of justification regarding a potential asylum for the prospective victims of climate change The leading question of this examination is thus gonna be if the claim to asylum due to the persecution through human induced climate change is a just claim or just a claim Because the abstract term of justice and its concepts which vary depending on the author could fill a thesis on its own this work will use the specific theory of justice of political philosopher John Rawls and thus will in pursuit of the main goal to concretely judge the obligation of states towards climate refugees on basis of an abstract justice term outline his theory of justice as fairness

Facing Global Environmental Change Hans Günter Brauch, Navnita Chadha Behera, Patricia Kameri-Mbote, John Grin, Úrsula Oswald Spring, Béchir Chourou, Czeslaw Mesjasz, Heinz

Krummenacher, 2009-06-04 The year 2007 could perhaps accurately be described as the year when climate change finally received the attention that this challenge deserves globally Much of the information and knowledge that was created in this field during the year was the result of the findings of the Fourth sessment Report AR4 of the Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change IPCC which were disseminated on a large scale and reported extensively by the media This was the result not only of a heightened interest on the part of the public on various aspects of climate change but also because the IPCC itself proactively attempted to spread the findings of its AR4 to the public at large The interest generated on the scientific realities of climate change was further enhanced by the award of the Nobel Peace Prize to the IPCC and former Vice President of the US Al Gore By taking this decision in favour of a leader who has done a great deal to create awareness on c mate change and a body that assesses all scientific aspects of climate change and disseminates the result of its findings the Norwegian Nobel Committee has clearly drawn the link between climate change and peace in the world

Migration, Environment and Climate Change Frank Laczko, Christine Aghazarm, 2009 Gradual and sudden environmental changes are resulting in substantial human movement and displacement and the scale of such flows both internal and cross border is expected to rise with unprecedented impacts on lives and livelihoods Despite the potential challenge there has been a lack of strategic thinking about this policy area partly due to a lack of data and empirical research on this topic Adequately planning for and managing environmentally induced migration will be critical for human security The papers in this volume were first presented at the Research Workshop on Migration and the Environment Developing a Global Research Agenda held in Munich Germany in April 2008 One of the key objectives on the Munich workshop was to address the need for more sound empirical research and identify priority areas of research for policy makers in the field of migration and the environment
